

Increasing Justice through Technology

CAJT SUMMER FELLOWSHIP

The Center for Access to Justice & Technology (CAJT) is pleased to announce the CAJT Summer Fellowship. CAJT would like to invite Chicago-Kent students to apply for this 10-week fellowship for the Summer of 2006.

The recipient of this fellowship will have the opportunity to spend the summer working with several unique initiatives that lie on the crossroads of public interest law and technology. The responsibilities of this fellow will include: conducting legal research for Professor Ronald W. Staudt on the delivery of legal services to low income individuals through electronic means, creating and editing web content, and assisting in the marketing and administration of the Self-Help Web Center. The amount of time devoted to these particular project areas will depend on the needs of CAJT.

The ideal candidate will possess:

- Excellent oral and written communication skills;
- Strong academic background;
- Advanced organizational skills and attention to detail;
- Ability to take direction and work independently;
- Devotion to public interest law

To apply for this fellowship opportunity, please send a resume and cover letter to cajt@kentlaw.edu. The deadline to apply for this fellowship is Wednesday, April 26th, 2006.

More information about CAJT and its initiatives can be found at www.kentlaw.edu/cajt/.
