INITIAL READING ASSIGNMENTS AND BOOKSTORE HOURS

Spring semester classes begin Tuesday, January 21, 2003. Initial reading assignments are posted at http://www.kentlaw.edu/depts/reg/reading_2003S.pdf. Additional assignments will be posted on the second-floor bulletin board as we receive them. The bookstore cannot mail course materials to students this year because of the late registration date. The bookstore's hours are at the end of this message.

TRIAL ADVOCACY STUDENTS

Students taking Trial Advocacy will find their professor and courtroom assignments at http://www.kentlaw.edu/depts/reg/trialad_2003S.pdf.

PROGRAM CHANGES

You may add open courses until the end of the first week of class. You may drop a course without being charged through the end of the second week of class. Refer to Student Handbook § 3.10 at http://www.kentlaw.edu/depts/acadadm/handbook.html#3.10\(b\)) for the program change regulations.

GRADUATING SENIOR INFORMATION

Graduation Application

Graduating seniors must complete a Graduation Application by January 31, 2003. Applications may be completed online at <http://webmail.kentlaw.edu> by clicking on the Web for Students icon, clicking on the forms section and selecting the Graduation Application form.

Bar Exam Application

The filing deadline for the July Illinois bar exam is February 1, 2003. Applications and instructions are available at www.ibaby.org/forms.html. If you intend to take a bar exam in another state, you should contact the board of bar examiners of that state for forms and filing deadlines. The Registrar's Office has a booklet containing bar exam information for other states.

Tax Tip

As you prepare your 2002 income tax return, the following little-known but important section of the Internal Revenue Code may save you some tax. Section 1031(e) provides that for purposes of § 1031, livestock of different sexes are not property of a like kind.
