

Mr. Assar Ansari

Program: Financial Services Law

Mr. Ansari is a lead associate at Purulekar and Associates. At Purulekar, he works on projects in a wide range of areas, including intellectual property, property law, real estate transactions, and alternative dispute strategies. He has specialized in legal risk management, with contractual and statutory compliances. He works on commercial documentation and litigation and also prepares a database of contractual rights and obligations and prepares statutory compliance manuals. He has experience in drafting and licensing agreements and has litigated before the Supreme Court of India and the High Court of Bombay. In addition, he has had experience in joint venture and shareholder agreements, technology licenses, business transfers and asset sale agreements.

Mr. Ansari received his Bachelor's of Law from Government Law College (G.L.C.) in 2001. Previous to that, he received his Bachelor's of Science from B.N.N. College in 1995. While at Government Law College, he participated in many moot court competitions and represented the college at the intra college moot court competition. He was a member of the G.L.C. Law Review Committee and was a student editor for the 2000-01 year. He is currently pursuing an LL.M. in Financial Services Law at Chicago-Kent College of Law.

Mr. Ansari is licensed to practice in India. He volunteers his time and his legal skills at Prayas N.G.O., where he helps to produce bail applications for inmates awaiting trial. He also volunteers at the Rotary job center, where he helps to find employment for children living in slums.
