Mr. Fu is an attorney at AllBright Law Offices in Shanghai, China. He advises clients on a variety of business topics such as foreign investment, mergers and acquisitions, research and development, and litigation for IP related issues. The majority of his work deals with international intellectual property law including domestic and international patent procurement, trademark and copyright registration, licensing and complex IP dispute resolution as well as litigation. He has also spent time working with enforcement authorities to protect intellectual property rights by administrative, civil and criminal actions. Before joining AllBright, Mr. Fu worked at Microsoft China Legal as a regional manager for central China and was responsible for supporting the China business team. Prior to that, he worked successively in two top local IP law firms to assist foreign clients acquiring patent and trademark registrations and conducting enforcement actions.

Mr. Fu graduated from Shanghai University where he received his Bachelor's of Science degree. He is currently enrolled in the LL.M. program in International and Comparative Law at Chicago-Kent College of Law.

Mr. Fu is licensed to practice law in China and is also a patent agent practicing before the State Intellectual Property Office of China. He is member of several nationwide and worldwide law research societies and IP enforcement alliances, such as the All China Patent Agency Association and International Trademark Association. Mr. Fu speaks Mandarin and English.
