

June 2009

Dear Members of the LL.M. Class of 2010:

As you anticipate your arrival to Chicago, I would like to invite you to join LLM Connect - a social networking site created by Chicago-Kent College of Law exclusively for the LL.M. Class of 2010.

LLM Connect allows you to connect with your future classmates by creating an online profile, posting comments on forums, and joining online groups. For example, if you are looking for a roommate this fall, we created a forum called "Housing in Chicago." We also created forums and groups for each of our LL.M. programs allowing you to discuss mutual academic interests online. This is only the start, one you have joined feel free to create your own forums and groups too!

In the upcoming days, the Office of International Law and Policy will e-mail each of you invitations to join our social network. This e-mail will have a link to LLM Connect with instructions on how to register.

To register, you will be required to enter your e-mail address, birth date, and create a password. Once you register, LLM Connect will ask you to create your profile. Upon approval of your profile by the network administrator, you will receive an e-mail with a link to the website allowing you to logon.

Please note that staff members from the Office of International Law and Policy review all postings daily and reserve the right to report any inappropriate online conduct to university administrators.

If you have questions regarding this service, please feel free to contact Hilary Waldron at hwaldron@kentlaw.edu or 312.906.5355.

Sincerely,

Lydia Lazar
Assistant Dean for International Law and Policy Development
